Community Collaboration & Care

King County Commission cares about children and families. Maggie is planning an evening of listening to local families during a dinner at JRC in partnership with Friends of Youth and Healthy Start to 'go deeper' with families to insure that valuable resources are being effectively invested in the areas and programs that meet the essential needs.

Ohhh...if you want to experience real Chinese food, you should have come to the International Lunch this week!!

Building Blocks? Volunteering is building relationships with people that you may have never had the opportunity to meet.

The gathering before they head off to school aboard the walking school bus.

This week:

Finding Hope, Healing & Joy in the Pain

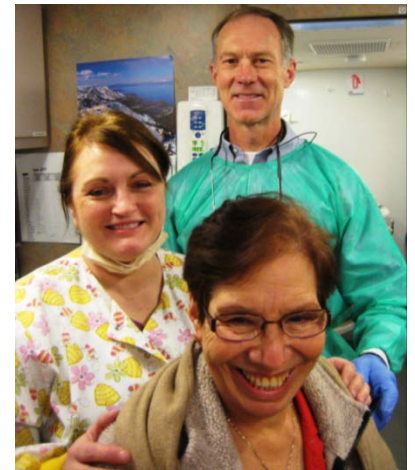

It was enough that he was abusing her, but when it spilled over to their 4th grader, she fled to Eastside Domestic Violence (EDV). Then JRC Community Care was called. A Caregiver walked alongside her. In collaboration with partners EDV, the school counselor, City Wrap-Around Services, JRC's small Care Fund for a security deposit, Mom and her two children are in safe housing, furnished by Home2Home. Mom is working while her kids are loved by volunteers in our Before School Program. When she asked Tom, "why do you do these things? Why would someone care about me?" She smiled softly and answered her own question, "I know, it's Jesus." Finding hope, healing and joy, Caregivers answering the call to love our neighbor.

Some of the cool crew that makes things click After School got together to talk about some golden rules and tools they can use to help kids succeed in life and school...very cool!

Options Where There Were None

So few in our community have dental insurance or can afford dental care. The need is great and for some the pain is greater. Medical Teams International extended their partnership with JRC to step up with a second van to care for parents, in addition to their children. Joy

Roof of our Community Care Team coordinates screening, scheduling and care with our partners, Lake Hills Elementary and Wrap-Around Services. "Thank you. I am so grateful," and that's all the paycheck our volunteer dentists needed to hear from those they served.

Christine also ate her eggs and bacon before attacking a stack of flap-jacks prepared by corporate partner Passport Unlimited and Liberty Road Foundation.
