Integrate, Advocate & Collaborate

While the leadership of Medical Teams International got together to do a little planning at JRC, a faithful team of volunteer dental professionals from community churches cared for kids without dental options from neighboring Lake Hills and Stevenson Elementary Schools. That's how it works; we hear the needs and integrate, advocate and collaborate with all those who are doing good works. That's how we build community.

Manna from Heaven That's the only way to describe how Melinda sustains JRC's Community Kitchen. Friends and partners donate everything from flour and sugar, to bacon, bread, coldcuts, paper coffee cups and plates so we can invest our resources in "serving the needs" of our community.

This week:

Dream

One thing all Olympic athletes have in common is a big dream. "Do you have a dream?" Anna Cummins, a gold and silver medal winner in rowing in two Olympics asked kids Before School. As kids shared their dreams, Anna asked, "What can you do today to help you get to your dream?" She also told kids it's okay to change their dreams. "God will use all of your preparations for all of your dreams." Anna knows, she didn't start rowing until she was 19 years old. Kids then got to touch her gold medal...and dream.

Julian Needs a Prosthesis Faithful husband and father of a 4 year old, Julian Forero, was born with a genetic malformation of his right leg. To help him obtain a functional prosthesis to replace a broken old one so that he may walk without crutches, friends of JRC have been working with doctors and raising funds to fill the gap. $7,800 remains to be raised. A tax deductible donation of any amount to JRC 'In Tribute' to Julian will help a man and his family.

A Good Mid-Winter Break, Serving

Matt and his mom had an idea, "let's do something good to help others during our mid-winter break." Eight of his buddies joined him at Heart & Home. After the employees shared stories of their lives and told them about the mission of Jubilee REACH, these young men worked alongside them, receiving and sorting donations, hanging and pricing clothing, stocking shelves and cashiering. "It was a cool day. I learned a lot and got to work with cool people," said one young man. It was a good way to spend a day during mid-winter break, serving.

Auction Time!

Pat Cashman is back and we hope you will be too! In his own words, Pat says "taking part in the JRC event last spring was truly a highlight of my year. I was hugely inspired by the wonderful work you are doing there at the Center." Last year was an advance sell out, so reserve your place now! Go to our website www.jubileereach.org You're also invited to be part of planning the fun and helping us procure more unique and exciting experiences or items like Jubbie!
